A scenario that the Act did not envisage: what if there is a separate responsible medical officer (RMO) for community and in-patient treatment?

An individual is recalled by the community RMO under section 113 because of non-compliance with the measures in a community CTO. A different approved medical practitioner becomes the in-patient RMO.

We think the community RMO should complete the CTO8 form (which is a retrospective record of the recall), and record the examination after admission by filling in part (b) on page three of the form.
